

NINETEENTH SUNDAY AFTER PENTECOST

Icon of Saints Charitina and Methodia -- October 5th

Life's Choices

Native Americans have a legend about the two paths one can take in life. One path is broad and easy and slopes down rolling hills. At the bottom of the hill, however, is a barren dessert where nothing lives. The other path is narrow and rocky. It winds around dangerous curves and is filled with unexpected difficulties. However, at the end of this path is the lush greenness of life and happiness.

The Native Americans told this story to their children in order to teach them that the easy way is not always the best way. Strong character is built by facing obstacles, not by avoiding them. In the same way, Christians grow in virtue and grace often through facing trials and struggles.

The life of the holy martyr Charitina is witness to this lesson. She was a young orphan girl – of great beauty – who was raised by devout Christian parents. At an early age she made the decision to dedicate her life to Christ in perpetual virginity. Through her example, many others were converted to Christ. This infuriated the pagan emperor who ordered that the hair of this beautiful servant of God be cut off and that hot coals be placed upon her head. She endured this and other inhumane and degrading tortures until the Lord took her soul to abide with Him in Paradise.

Her path in life was not an easy one, but it was the right one. Upon which path do the decisions that we make in life place us? Do we choose merely the easy path or the path that leads to Life?

18th Sunday After Pentecost

Dear Brothers and Sisters!

In the words of today's Gospel, Jesus Christ instills in us a perfect love for God and for our neighbor. "Love is patient and kind; love is not jealous or boastful; it is not arrogant or rude. Love does not insist on its own way; it is not irritable or resentful; it does not rejoice at wrong, but rejoices in the right. Love bears all things, believes all things, hopes all things, endures all things" (1 Cor. 13:4-7).

The Apostle Paul writes to the Colossians: "...forbearing one another and, if one has a complaint against another, forgiving each other; as the Lord has forgiven you, so you also must forgive. And over all these put on love, which binds everything together in perfect harmony" (Col. 3:13-14).

Everyone has experienced many annoying moments in their lives. Sometimes it happens that the person we love, who is our friend, behaves very badly towards us. We do not expect anything like that from them. Anger arises in our heart towards such a person. It seems that we will never be able to forgive them. This is beyond our power. No matter how hard it is for us, no matter how great our grief, if we do not care about our eternal life, we must forgive our enemies. Unforgiveness is the rejection of God's mercy on us. How many times do we partake of the Mysteries of Repentance and confess our sins, which we have made many times over? We hope that the Lord God has forgiven us in the person of the priest. The Lord God forgives us, but on one condition, if we forgive our neighbors. That is why Jesus Christ reminds us, "...give, and it will be given to you; good measure, pressed down, shaken together, running over, will be put into your lap. For the measure you give will be the measure you get back" (Luke 6:38).

It is very difficult to forgive on the human side, but what is impossible for a person is possible for God. Ask Jesus Christ to help you so that you can forgive. If we do not do this, we are hypocritical: we say one thing and do another.

There was once a grandfather, so old that he could barely stand on his feet. And his hands shook so much that he could hardly hold a spoon as he sat down to eat. Sometimes a little soup splashed on the table and ran down his beard. His son and daughter-in-law were very upset, and finally they began to feed their grandfather not at the table, but in a corner by the stove, and they gave him food in a clay bowl. The grandfather looked sadly, from the corner, at the table where they were eating, and there were tears in his eyes.

One day the grandfather could not hold the bowl with his trembling hands. It fell down and crashed. The daughter-in-law scolded him, but he said nothing, just sighed heavily. Then the son and daughter-in-law went to the store and bought a wooden bowl. From then on, the old man ate from it. One day they were all sitting in the house, and the four-year-old grandson was putting some boards together. "The father asked him, what are you doing?" "Making a trough," the boy replied, "You and mom will eat from that bowl when I grow up." The man and woman looked at each other, cried and immediately took the grandfather to the table. From then on, the old man ate with everyone, and the son and daughter-in-law did not tell him anything, not even as he splashed some soup. ("Grandfather and Grandson" - Tales of the Brothers Grimm.)

What a wonderful story! It is sad that each of us can become a participant in such a story. Love our parents!

The Apostle John says, "If any one says, 'I love God,' and hates his brother, he is a liar..." (1 John 4:20). You will find that he gets upset with his neighbors very easily, is angry, feels pain in the heart, shortening his life, destroying his soul, and the fruits of the Holy Spirit: tenderness, humility, and meekness.

African folklore has a story of the "smart and stupid monkeys." Two monkeys lived on one island: one smart, the other stupid. Somehow, they agreed to always follow the principles of the golden rule and "do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

One day, during a flood, the stupid monkey climbed a tall tree to escape the water. When he saw a fish swimming in the water around the tree, the monkey felt sorry for the fish, and decided to save it from the flood. The monkey caught the fish, climbed with it to the top of the tree, and held it firmly until it died.

The smart monkey also climbed a tree and saw a fish. But he knew that fish could not live without water. "If I were a fish," thought the monkey, "would I want to be pulled out of the water?" "Of course not!" The monkey decided and left the fish alone. As it turned out, the fish not only did not suffer from the flood, but found a lot of food on the flooded shore.

Dear believers! Each of us is endowed with a high talent - the Divine ability to love. If we lose this talent, all of our other virtues will become useless and even harmful to our souls. It is about this path that the Apostle Paul speaks, urging the faithful, "But earnestly desire the higher gifts. And I will show you a still more excellent way" (1 Cor. 12:31).
